

Call to Artists...

Yes, that is Pat Heeter, Artworks Gallery and Exhibit Coordinator

She is testing BREWS HUES in preparation for the spring 2018 exhibit in The Painted Turtle Gallery.

You may want to start testing BREWS HUES as well...

A Bevy of Brews Hues offers artists the opportunity to create an original work of art featuring one of the Brews Hues. Color chips will be provided. The color chosen must be visible on 50% of the work submitted. You might think of it as a challenge. Brews Hues vary greatly...let your imagination run wild!

Eligibility: Artworks Artist and others

Medium: Artists Choice

Guidelines: Wall art must have hanging wire firmly attached. Sculptures must fit through 34-inch-wide by 82 inch tall doorways.

Deadline to Return Signed Exhibit Agreement:
September 1, 2017

Artworks
106 N. Michigan Avenue, Big Rapids, MI 49307
Attention: Pat Heeter

Jury for Exhibit: The Exhibit Team

Awards: First, $200; Second, $150; Third, $100

Awards Juror: To be announced.

A Bevy of Brew Hues is the inspiration to produce a piece of art that is 50% or more in one of the hues pictured below. Subject matter and medium are the artist's choice.

The actual paint color sample will be mailed to you and attached to your exhibit wall tag.

Be sure to note your chosen color's number on the Exhibit Agreement and return to Artworks by September 1, 2017.

Acknowledgements: Someone has said "There is no original thought." With that in mind, we have borrowed an idea from the Muskegon Museum of Art's colors of beer exhibit and modified it for our use. Thank you to Tom Tomasek for sharing his experience in that exhibit. Thank you to Carrie Weis Stermer, curator of the Ferris State University galleries and museums who has scheduled "The Art of the Label" exhibit and has encouraged Artworks to do a coordinating Exhibit.
